Number of Volunteers: 20

We are a 100% volunteer-run, non-profit society that aims to encourage DIY projects, skill-sharing, and waste reduction. We promote the development of our community's sharing economy, operating mainly as a membership-driven library. We house a large inventory of tools which we loan to members and community development partners. The tools can be used for a variety of projects from woodworking to home improvement and other hands-on, creative projects. We house a small workshop for members who wish to work on their projects but do not have the appropriate space to do so at home. We might be a good fit for you if you enjoy working with your hands and meeting other do-it-yourself enthusiasts from an interesting variety of backgrounds.
