Indian Sub-Continent Student Association (or also known as INDISA) is a student run organization that exhibits the South Asian culture. INDISA at Dalhousie University hosts 5-10 events every year co-partnering with various community organizations. INDISA gives South Asian students a chance to exhibit their culture through food, dance, arts and other perspectives and also gives an opportunity to the Halifax community to learn and indulge in the South Asian culture. INDISA has grown exponentially with the growing South Asian population in Halifax and Nova Scotia. Two main events are the gala events; Diwali Gala and INDISA night. Diwali Gala is held in October/November celebrating the Hindu Festival of Lights called Diwali. INDISA night is held in March as an end of academic year celebration.
